General Maxwell Taylor
Office of the Chief of Staff
Department of the Army
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear General Taylor:

In addition to sending you my sincere congratulations on your new and vitally important post, I wish to tell you of my keen desire that this Agency should give you every possible support in your task.

You are somewhat familiar with our operations overseas [redacted] but, if you have a moment I should welcome an opportunity to give you as concise as possible a general briefing on our over-all activities, particularly as they might relate to your new duties.

STAT

Faithfully yours,
